

Land of the Fanns Landscape Partnership

“The surviving London fanns on the edge of East London – fens, forest and farms that despite being fragmented, are exceptionally rich in unique layers of geological, built, natural and cultural heritage that has continually been evolving since the last Ice Age – will be positively managed and understood as the last remaining landscape of London as it once was.” Land of the Fanns Partnership Vision

Objectives

1. Restoration and Connection
2. Access
3. Information
4. Experience by taking part
5. Enjoyment of the Landscape
6. Partnership working

Heritage Training

Books

Apprentices

Community Archaeological Dig

Oral history

Websites

Outdoor Learning Built heritage

Walks programme

Brownfield habitats

Arts events

Conferences

Heathland restoration

River Restoration

Woodland management

Reedbed management

Community Tree Nursery

River fly

Competitions

Landscape Management Plan

Dragonfly identification

Outfall safari

Designed Landscapes

Conservation Grazing

Events

Bumblebee identification

Travelling archaeology exhibition

Natural Flood Management

Heritage bus tours

Woodland Coppicing

Interpretation

Bioblitz

Volunteering

Community mapping

Connecting Historic Landscapes

Community Action Fund

£15,000 Arts Council

£300,000
Thames Water
Environment Agency

Havering Council
S106
Veolia

The Legacy

Photograph by Wayne Sullivan, Land of the Fanns Photograph Competition

HERITAGE FUND